

PETERSBURG
SURGEONS ARE COMING
FOR ANNUAL MEETING

Special Train of Pullman Cars Will Bring Seaboard Air Line Employees to Petersburg.

GOVERNOR CANNOT ATTEND

It Was Expected That He Would Make Welcoming Address in Behalf of State—Coroner's Jury Investigates Killing of Frank Pulley.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
PETERSBURG, VA., October 17.— A special train of Pullman cars from the South, will bring surgeons of the Seaboard Air Line Railway to the annual meeting of the association, to open in the convention hall of the Stratford Hotel in this city on Monday morning.
The train will arrive at the Market Street depot at 7:16 A. M., and the Pullman will be side-tracked for the use of such representatives as may desire to occupy them. About 125 surgeons of the various divisions of the railway will attend the meeting. The morning session of the association will be mainly consumed in welcoming exercises, as heretofore stated in The Times-Dispatch. Governor Stuart, who was expected to deliver the address of welcome on behalf of the State, sent word today that he would be unable to do so because of important engagements elsewhere. On Monday afternoon the visiting surgeons will be given an automobile ride to the Crater and other historic points, by the Chamber of Commerce.

The Killing of Frank Pulley.
Coroner Leigh and a jury last night held an inquest over the body of Frank T. Pulley killed by Frank Vondra, a Bohemian, death resulting in the Petersburg hospital, on Thursday evening.
From the effect of blows on the head, Pulley died on Wednesday night.
The two men were tenants and employees on the dairy farm of Hatcher Seward, in Prince George, where Mrs.
Vondra, a young woman, was employed as cook. The two men because of similar names, were familiarly known on the farm as "English" Frank and "Bohemian" Frank. They had been friends up to the time of the difficulty. The evidence in substance was that after supper, while alone in the house, Mrs.
Vondra was attacked by Pulley. Her screams were heard by her husband, who, picking up "something" from the kitchen, either wood or iron, rushed in to the house to the defense of his wife and struck Pulley on the head. In the fight that followed he struck Pulley again and then fled to his home with his wife. Pulley talked with witnesses after the affair, but his condition finally became such that a physician was summoned and he was brought to the hospital here, dying on the following day.

The jury's verdict was, that Pulley came to his death from a fractured skull, resulting from blows on the head justifiably inflicted by Frank Vondra.

Sudden Death in Dinwiddie.
Thomas Boisseau, a widely known and widely connected citizen of Dinwiddie, died suddenly last night at his home, near the county courthouse, of dropsical affection. He was a successful farmer and well-to-do man, but was never married. He is survived by two brothers, Samuel and J. Holt Bois-seau, and by two sisters, Miss Rosa Boisseau and Mrs. Ellen Ragsdale, all of Dinwiddie, and many relatives. He was between sixty-five and seventy years old.

Death of Mrs. Tinsley.
Mrs. Annie Heath Tinsley, widow of Cornelius D. Tinsley, died this morning about 11 o'clock at her residence on South Jefferson Street. She was in her sixty-fifth year, and was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F.
Heath, of Prince George County.

Union Sunday School Meeting.
A union meeting of the Episcopal Sunday schools in the city will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Church of the Good Shepherd. The address, especially to teachers and scholars, will be delivered by the Rev. Thomas Semmes, of Richmond. Full reports from all the schools will be submitted, and brief talks will be made by the different superintendents. Special music has been arranged for the occasion.

The Negro Cousin's Story.
J. C. Cousins, who surrendered to Officer Grammar at Disputanta yesterday, confessing that he had killed his wife and a negro named Henry Hobbs, and was brought to the jail in this city last night, was taken to the Dinwiddie jail this afternoon by Sheriff Calusha, to be held until the story can be investigated. Cousins says he committed the double murder at his home in the upper part of the county last Sunday, and that since then he has been wandering about in a daze.
Dinwiddie authorities have heard nothing about any murder, but will make investigation to ascertain if there is anything in the story. Though he talks calmly and intelligently, it is suspected that he may be laboring under the hallucination that he may have committed the crime.

General News Notes.
An adjourned meeting of the Common Council was held last night, and bids for the paving of Halifax Street were discussed, though no action, the matter being finally postponed to the November meeting. There are local and outside bidders for the work.

William E. Perkinson, whose death has been mentioned, and whose funeral took place this afternoon, was a gallant Confederate soldier, serving

SOUTH PACIFIC TOWN
SHELLED BY GERMANS

War Reaches Half-Way Around
World and Strikes Down
Capital of Tahiti.

STORY TOLD BY VIRGINIAN

French Gunboat Zelle Is Sunk After It Had Been Dismantled and Its Guns Used in Futile Attempt at Defense.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NORFOLK, Va., October 17.—How the hand of grim-visaged war reached half-way around the world and struck the little town of Papeete, was down in the South Pacific, 4,000 or more miles from the mainland in any direction, is graphically told by Dr. John Miller-Masury, of Virginia Beach, in a letter just received here by his wife.
Dr. Masury has been in the Society Islands—those tiny dots on the map that look like the most isolated spots on the surface of the globe—for his health. He was in the capital of Tahiti, when two big German cruisers, horn-barded the town and sunk the French gunboat Zelle, and except two others, an aged Civil War veteran and an Sewer, was the only white man who remained in the sheltered town, which buildings were tumbling down and flames were bursting out on all sides.
How the French removed all the larger than three-inch guns, and up on the hillside back of the town and opened fire on the big German ships; how the destructive shells from the German wrecked the defenseless port, and how the panic-stricken native Kanakas fled and were killed, is thus described by Dr. Masury:—

"Think of it. The little town of Pa-peete has been brushed by the fiery shells of grim-visaged war, and I have seen (what I hope never to see again) weeping, panic-stricken men, women and children, fleeing for safety under the roar and blaze of bursting shells; and rain of shrapnel. As I can tell no one's experience as well as my own, I am afraid this, too, will be more or less a reiteration of the famous 'I'."

BELIEVED WAR VESSELS WERE ALL SALUTING
"Yesterday morning I arose about 7, and went down to get my coffee.
The building I lived in is separated from the main hotel, and my room has (second floor) doors at each end, opening on porches, with two side windows, overlooking one of the main streets, which connects with the road running to Point Venus (east end of the island). Pausing a moment on the back porch to look at the sky, (it had been and was raining intermittently). I heard gun firing from the hill back of the city. The French have taken all the guns, none larger than three inches, from their little gun-boat, the Zelle, and made a battery up there. I thought they were saluting and when I got downstairs found a report that there were two big German cruisers off the city and that the little French battery had opened fire on them.

"I laughed at the idea, insisting that it could not be, that the vessels were friendly, and had my coffee calmly and went back to dress. Had hardly got to my room when I hear the rip of a heavy gun, and soon saw the shell burst upon the hill near the French position. I ran to the front porch, overlooking the rear of the hotel proper, and looked down to the landlady that the warships were shelling the fort, and for her and her family and the servants to 'skidoo,' which they did, putting two autos and begging me to come, too.

"As I wanted to see the whole thing, however, I refused, and in ten minutes I had the whole place to myself, and for the next half hour it was hell.
Though the shells nearly all fell about and outside the city, every explosion was accompanied by shrieks and groans of the poor natives, who were hurrying, for the most part on foot, to the shelters of the cutting vayas, carrying their babies and poor pathetic little bundles. By the time I got dressed the battery was silenced and the firing ceased.

DESERTED SHIP IS STRUCK BY SHELLS FROM GERMANS
"So I strolled down to the waterfront to get a look at the ships. I did not see a soul until I got to the American consulate, which was closed, the consular agent having fled. There I ran into a Mr. Patterson, an old Civil War veteran, and we concluded to stay there where we had a good view of the ships and could see the boats land (as we expected them to do). We were soon joined by two others, and while discussing the probable future moves on the part of the Germans, saw a flash from one of the eight-inch guns on the leading ship, and a lyddite shell struck in the water about one-quarter of a mile from us and sailed on into the city. Soon after that they got the proper, and we saw the shell strike and sink the Zelle (which had been deserted with colors flying).

"An old man, an American captain, an old Swede and I are the only white people who saw the bombardment, and if there were any Chinese or natives around they were hidden.

"The French military were all up on the hill behind earthworks, and a negro chauffeur (from New York, who drove an auto for them, told me that all who could crawled into a sewer drain and stayed there until the firing ceased.

"The Germans got the range of the Zelle at the third shot, the fourth hitting her. There were not more than twenty-five shot all altogether.
"Then they pumped some into another steamer, and pieces of shell and shrapnel and splinters began falling all round us. The government storehouse on our left, was in a blaze, and we concluded it would be sensible to retreat. All the way back the shelling continued, pieces from fifty pounds down to little crumbs as big as my thumb falling all around us, cutting off limbs of trees and zipping through the air like hail. One little piece knocked my hat off, but curiously enough, none of us were touched.

"One shell went through a whole block of houses, killed several and knocked the whole rump off a poor horse in a stable.
"By the time I got as far as the hotel, the whole town in our rear was ablaze."

By Using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets
You Can Renew the Appetite of Your Boyhood Days.

Some of you suffering men and women would just as soon think of eating pie, jam and cookies as you would of sleeping with a pair of Bengal tigers. You're afraid of your stomach.
If you will only try a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet after each meal and at bedtime you will very soon overcome this fear of food.

"Gee! It's great to eat like a boy again!"

These Little Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets go into the stomach just like food. They mix their new and fresh digestive qualities with your worn-out juices in stomach and intestines and thus enrich your body, stop gas, irritation and "after eating distress." The act of taking a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet is a pleasing one. You eat it as you would an "after dinner mint" or a "bonbon." It at once mixes with your food and digests that food. It relieves the strain of that meal of course, and thus you experience a joyful feeling from your food.
Soon your appetite will return. You will find yourself eating the foods you would dearly love to eat, but are afraid to eat; and in a very short time your old digestive system will be returned to you, for our bodies very quickly readjust themselves to normal conditions when we stop the trouble that makes them diseased.
Go to your druggist, no matter where you live, and buy a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. To any one wishing a free trial of these tablets please address: F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich., and a small sample package will be mailed free.—Advertisement.

DRIES SKIN ERUPTIONS RIGHT UP
END ECZEMA WITH SULPHUR
USE LIKE COLD CREAM TO STOP ITCHING

The moment you apply bold-sulphur to an itching or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a renowned dermatologist.
This remarkable sulphur made into a thick cream effects such prompt relief, even in aggravated Eczema, that it is a never-ending source of amazement to physicians.
For many years bold sulphur has occupied a secure position in the treatment of cutaneous eruptions by reason of its cooling, parasite-destroying properties and nothing has ever been found to take its place in relieving irritable and inflammatory affections of the skin.
While not always establishing a permanent cure, yet, in every instance, it immediately subdues the itching irritation and heals the Eczema right up and it is often years later before any eruption again manifests itself.
Any good pharmacist will supply an ounce of bold-sulphur, which should be applied to the affected parts like the ordinary cold cream. It isn't unpleasant and the prompt relief afforded is very welcome, particularly when the Eczema is accompanied with tortuous itching.—Advertisement.

GIRLS! GIRLS! YOU MUST TRY THIS!
DOUBLES BEAUTY OF YOUR HAIR

For 25 cents you can make your hair lustrous, fluffy, and abundant.

Immediate!—Yes! Certain!—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse.
Just try this moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowledge's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.—Advertisement.
